women embracing change to transform their lives
Fifteen years ago, the members of University Lutheran Church (ULC) decided to make some space available for a new mission within its facility. After a year-long process of inquiry and research within the congregation and in the community, a task force concluded that this space would best be used for homeless women. A board was elected to pursue this vision, establish a separate 501(c)3 organization, raise funds for the organization, and determine when and how to commence operation. Over the course of the next 4 years, the groundwork was laid and funds were raised to open a transitional home for Elizabeth Gregory Home (EGH). A year later (2007), a day center was opened. Since that time, EGH has steadily grown into the important and thriving organization that it is today.

I have been privileged to be a significant part of this journey, both as the Pastor of ULC and as a board member of EGH for the past 15 years. Although having been credited with being the “founder” of EGH, this fabulous organization would not have happened had it not been for the vision and support of the members of ULC and of the broader community, as well as the staff and board members throughout the years. Back then, everyone knew that homelessness was on the rise and that women needed their own place to find refuge apart from the men who tended to prey on them. The path that was chosen to meet this need was pretty obvious. All that it took was the desire, the will, some tenacity, and the finances to put the vision into action. The current stability of EGH is a credit to all who have been a part of this endeavor.

As I leave the board of EGH and depart from ULC, I will cherish all of you who have been on the front lines of making Elizabeth Gregory Home what it is today, as well as all of you who have ensured the viability and sustainability of EGH with your gifts, time, and prayers. Most importantly, I will hold in my memory all of the women who have entered the doors of EGH and found a place to call “home,” whether for a moment, a week, a month, or a year. To leave this place knowing that the women of EGH will continue to have this home as their refuge is a dream come true and a source of hope for all of the women who are yet to pass through the doors of EGH.

Peace,

Ron Moe-Lobeda
Pastor University Lutheran Church, retired
Thanks to trained, motivated staff and volunteers who share the vision that homeless and at-risk women have the power to transform their lives, Elizabeth Gregory Home accomplished the following:

In 2014, 619 women between the ages of 18 and 72 visited the Day Center 8,412 times, 8,200 hot nutritious meals were served for breakfast and lunch and nearly 30,000 pounds of groceries were distributed to women in need. Women were referred to healthcare professionals, resulting in 28 receiving eyeglasses and one person accessing dental care. 15 women were placed in transitional housing and 23 women secured permanent housing.

In 2015, 642 women between the ages of 18 and 81 visited the Day Center 9,601 times. 10,353 hot nutritious meals were served for breakfast and lunch and nearly 36,000 pounds of groceries were distributed to women in need. Women were referred to healthcare professionals, resulting in 46 receiving eyeglasses and 43 accessing dental care. 13 women were placed in transitional housing and 31 women secured permanent housing.

Theresa discovered the EGH Day Center while staying at the overnight shelter in University Lutheran Church. She immediately pitched in and volunteered for cooking, cleaning and helping other clients. When we had an opening in our transitional housing program, she was a natural choice. Theresa always had a passion for cooking, yet her skills were not fully marketable in the workplace. While at EGH, Theresa applied for and was accepted at Le Cordon Bleu College of Culinary Arts.

EGH staff helped her get an Older Women’s League grant, which paid a portion of her tuition. Theresa graduated from the program with a 4.0 GPA and perfect attendance. She used her training to find work cooking for two sororities in the University District and also to work on-call at a local retirement facility.

Theresa was able to move out of EGH and into housing in Federal Way, where she is helping to remodel an old friend’s home. Theresa now cherishes time spent with her daughters and grandchildren, and is grateful to know that EGH will continue to support her during her transition out of homelessness.
